PLANET THREE ELEVATION HAS BEEN APPROVED AS A CONTRACTOR FOR THE FMA GRANT PROGRAM IN GALVESTON COUNTY, TEXAS

Home elevation contractor, Planet Three Elevation (P3) is approved as a designated contractor to provide FEMA-funded home lifting for Galveston County homeowners.

Galveston County, TX, January 20, 2022 – Dickinson-based Planet Three Elevation will begin to work with Galveston County for residential elevation projects that will occur in 2022 after years of repetitive flooding disasters. Funding is provided through FEMA's Flood Mitigation Assistance Grant Program (FMA).

The Texas Water Development Board (TWDB) oversees the FMA grant program for the State of Texas on behalf of FEMA. Residents in multiple areas of Galveston County will benefit from the FMA Grants. FMA programs are designed to reduce the overall risk to the residents, homes, and structures from future flooding events, while also reducing reliance on federal funding in future disasters. In many cases, the homeowners will benefit from lower flood insurance premiums once the work is completed.

We can't stop the rising water, but we can safely lift your home with expertise and precision; removing it from repetitive flood loss. This is a problem Planet Three Elevation can solve.

- Wayne Fairley, Planet Three CEO

Through this FMA grant program, homes will be elevated above FEMA's base flood elevation to avoid future flooding and to provide peace of mind to the Galveston County residents.

These home elevation grant programs provide for lifting the existing home, structural support, utility restoration, stairs, and landings and may include additional elements.
